H. E. CHADWICK

The angel of death visited the community of Falun Tuesday afternoon and claimed H. E. Chadwick almost instantaneously. He was driving a motor and had just stopped where some men were working when he felt faint, and exclaimed, "Boys, I'm done," and expired. He was about sixty-three years of age, and had lived in the community for several years. About eight years ago he took since resided. He was born in Wyoming. After investigating the circumstances, the provincial coroner decided that an inquest was not necessary, as heart failure was undoubtedly the cause. His wife predeceased him several years ago, and he has one son, William, living at Cochrane, Wyoming. The funeral arrangements had not been made at time of going to press.

SHORTAGE OF LABOR ON FARMS, RATE OF $5 A DAY OFFERED

Winnipeg, Sept. 7. — The great majority of British harvesters have made good on the farms of Western Canada, and of the $5.00 who crossed the Atlantic to help garner the Dominion's crop, less than five per cent asked to be returned home, officials of the two railways, stated today after a careful survey of the situation. The experiment of bringing the Britishers to the harvest fields of Canada was declared to be a success.

There is a shortage of labor at some points where wages of from four to six dollars a day are being offered. All of the three hundred men who have been returned home at their own request were offered work at four and five dollars a day, asserted C. A. Vanscoy, C.P.R. superintendent of colonization. While they were waiting around Winnipeg for their transportation to be arranged, they were offered work in the fields at those wages, but none of them would go out.

WINNER OF EDMONTON CUP FOR WHEAT ANNOUNCED

Coming within an ace of winning the highest possible honors for the best field of wheat in the province, the late Mr. J. B. Scott, of Kelso, carried off the Edmonton Board of Trade cup for the best field of wheat in northern Alberta. GIRL LIES SIX HOURS BESIDE DEAD COMRADE

Banff, Sept. 10. — The slight act of turning in his moving car to reach a robe in the back seat that his companion might be more comfortable, Saturday night, cost Thomas A. Wallin his life and caused his companion, Miss Helen Laidlaw, of Camrose, to pass through six hours of harrowing suffering. From about 1:30 p.m. until 5:30 in the morning, the unfortunate young woman lay in a deep ditch pinned down by the heavy car, her dead friend by her side, while many cars for the greater part of that period passed by the noise of the passage drowning her frantic despairing cries for help.

Dancers returning home to Camrose, young folks taking an afternoon drive before going home for the night, all light-hearted, some singing, passed by, not dreaming that in that ditch hidden from the play of their headlights by the shrubs that had sprung into place, death had taken a toll of one life and was grimly reaching for another.

Miss Laidlaw came to Banff a few days ago from Camrose to visit her cousin, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Finlayson, the ranchman.

Two car loads of lady golfers went to Camrose on Tuesday for a friendly game with the Camrose Ladies' Golf club, and returned to Banff.

A bad auto accident happened at Lucas bridge on Monday, when a commercial traveller named Waterman ran his car into the end of the bridge. Another car was approaching from the opposite direction, and it was impossible to cross on the bridge, so Waterman had the alternative of colliding with the other car head on, or hitting the bridge, and he struck the bridge. Revision of Alberta School Act on Card in Legislature Edmonton, Sept. 5.—Revision of Alberta's School Act will be definitely on the program at the forthcoming session of the legislature, according to Hon. Perren Baker, minister of education, who returned to the city on Wednesday, after a trip to the coast in which he discussed with Premier Brown various phases of the proposed new law.

The new act was on the program for last session, but there was so much work to be done on it, amounting to practically a re-drafting of the entire statute, that the government decided to leave it over until next session.

While the minister is not yet ready to give a complete outline of the proposals, they are expected to follow along the lines which he advocated earlier in the year, when addressing the Alberta School Trustees' Association convention in Calgary.

Adoption of the county system, which has been in vogue for years in Great Britain, in Ontario, and in many parts of the United States, will be the basis of the revision, it is expected, and the main object will be the betterment and improvement of rural school education.

Larger units of school government, a more centralized system of control, and a more complete system of supervision, are also expected to be included in the revision. (Continued on Page 4)

YOUR INVESTMENT

There is a host of counselors ready to give people advice on their investments—mostly for a consideration. High hopes of lucrative returns are held out by these financial advisers. Sometimes their golden promises come true; often they don't. Mostly they gain their clientele from those people who want somebody to make up their minds for them. Nearly everybody wants somebody else to do this for them; perhaps so they can have somebody to blame if their investment or speculation goes wrong. Generally, the emphasis is laid on what the investor or speculator is going to get out of whatever he puts his money into. This emphasis is wrong.

Your investment, your real investment, is not the money you give to a broker for the purchase of stocks or bonds, nor are your dividends the profits accruing from such investments. It is what you enterprise. The latter phase of investment has its uses and it is perfectly right to expect and take a return on the money a man invests. But the higher investment counts most. Your real investment is yourself. If you put that into something; into the making or doing something, that is of many times more social value than any amount of money you may invest. Indeed, some men who only invest money in things are just so many parasites, living on the back of the industry, taking rich reward but doing nothing (except lending money) of a constructive or reconstructive kind. Their virtues are negative.

But the man who will invest himself in the work of the world, producing something, distributing something, adding wealth to the world, rather than lending wealth for a consideration; that is the true citizen and builder of the world. You must invest your wealth; your mind, your brain, your energy, your health, your faith, yourself, in the world's work; he something; something else than investing or lending money for others to use in work. Your dividends will consist in the helping of humanity to reach the greater heights, in making the lot of many easier and brighter, in unlocking the secrets of nature and adding to the real wealth of the world, and in co-operating with the creator in his creative work. What an investment and what dividends!

COUNT YOUR MANY BLESSINGS

Some people spend much time in kicking about this and complaining about that—nothing seems to satisfy them.

They kick about taxes, complain about working, growl about politics, fuss about prices, and have spasms about the weather.

They seldom seem to realize how well they fare, as compared with the early settlers.

If they would sit down and calmly compare their lot with that of their forefathers, they would realize that they are living an easy life.

Their forefathers worked from dawn to sunset.

Automobiles and auto trucks were unknown to them.

Rail transportation was a minus quantity.

They used horse, mule or ox drawn vehicles.

Electric power was unknown.

The telegraph and telephone had not yet put in an appearance.

Little attention was paid to sanitation and hygiene.

Newsletters had not become great and were not, delivering their messages into every home.

If they would, they could think of a thousand other things that we have today to make life comfortable that our forefathers did without.

It is just as easy for a fellow to look at the bright side of life as it is to worry about the dark side—and it is much more pleasant.

ANTI-ACCIDENT RULES

Ten timely anti-accident suggestions are contained in a bulletin issued by the National Safety Council:

1. Look out for children. You can never tell what they'll do, and you're always wrong if you hit one.

2. Don't pass a standing trolley car. Some day the jury may call it manslaughter.

3. Don't speed around corners for it's a straight route to the hospital.

4. Drive on the right side of the road; it's the only safe side.

5. The fact that you had the right-of-way won't bring anybody back to life—at least of all yourself.

Use discretion.

6. Do not stop short, without giving warning. The other fellow is no mind-reader.

7. Do not back up without looking to the rear.

8. Do not park or pass on a curve or hill. There's plenty of straight road.

9. Slow down when approaching a crossroad; it is nearly as dangerous as a railroad crossing.

10. Be courteous to other drivers and traffic officers. Courtesy prevents accidents.

FLIES

Insects play an important part in the spread of disease. Typhus fever which was also known as jail or ship fever, is spread by the body louse, and has disappeared as a result of greater personal cleanliness.

Yellow fever and malaria are spread by certain kinds of mosquitoes.

In Canada, our chief insect problem, from the standpoint of disease among human beings, is the common house fly. Because the fly is covered with minute hairs, and because of its habit of lighting and feeding on all sorts of filth, the fly carries and transfers filth from one place to another.

Flies feed on anything, including body waste and secretions. When they light on such matter, it sticks to them and they carry it to their next point of rest, which may be the milk-jug, the sugar bowl, or the food on the table.

If the fifth in which they have been contained, disperse germs, they carry these along with the filth.

The fly feeds by sucking up its food. If the food is dry, the insect discharges fluid from its stomach to moisten it, and thus it passes out some of the filth it has previously fed upon to whatever it now seeks to eat.

Flies breed in any collection of waste organic matter, such as garbage, but preferably on horse manure.

Such breeding should be prevented by proper covers and regular removal.

Outside privies should be screened to prevent entrance of flies. Houses should be screened. Flies should never be allowed to light on the baby or his food; they are frequently responsible for the spread of summer diarrhoea.

Flies are really dangerous. They do spread disease and so, should be destroyed.

Questions concerning health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered by letter. Questions as to diagnosis and treatment will not be answered.

JUST BE GLAD

Oh, how glad I am to be here!

What we've missed of calm we couldn't.

Have you know!

What we've met of stormy pain

And of sorrow's driving pain,

We can better meet again

If it blow.

We have erred in that dark hour,

We have known,

When our tears fell with the shower

All alone.

Were not shine and shower blend

As our gracious Master meant?

Let us temper our content

With his own.

For we know not every morrow

Can be sad;

So, forgetting all the sorrow

Let us fold away our fears

And put by our foolish tears,

And through all the coming years

Just be glad.

Mr. John Melling, Farmer, Alta., writes: "I am a returned soldier, and when I came home from overseas I suffered greatly with dysentery. The doctor said it was chronic and did not think it could be relieved. However, he doctored me for quite a while, but did me no good. One day the druggist asked me if I had ever tried

"On his recommendation I bought a bottle and after I had taken it got some relief, so I got two more, and have never had the dysentery since 1928."

Nelson's Unlucky Love Adventure.

Writing in the London "Evening News," Max Pemberton, well-known English writer, says:—

"I read in an American journal a discussion as to which is the most beautiful city in the world; and I am not surprised that a writer names Quebec, and names it with emphasis.

We cannot wonder at the literary enthusiasm Quebec has provoked.

"The majestic appearance of Cape Diamond," says our writer... the fortifications, the cupolas, and minarets, like those of an Eastern city, blazing and sparkling in the sun, the noble basin like a sheet of purest silver, in the harbor or the world's graceful meanderings of the River St. Lawrence, the fertile valley dotted with picturesque habitant houses, the distant falls of Montmorency

... the grim purple mountains, the barriers to the North, form a picture which it is no exaggeration to say is unsurpassed in any part of the world."

It is easy to applaud such chauvinism when one has set foot in Quebec and been received with that courtly hospitality for which its people are famous.

Naturally, romance is never far away from such a picture. There is a story told of the Lord Nelson and of one Miles Prentice, who served under Wolfe and subsequently served here. This fellow opened an inn to which the soldiers and sailors resorted. . . and among them in the year 1782 came the Captain Nelson, then commanding H.M.S. Albemarle, of 26 guns.

"Miles Prentice," says a writer,

"had a niece, Miss Simpson, daughter of Sandy Simpson, whose charms so captivated the embryo

Admiral that when his vessel had sailed from port he clandestinely returned for the purpose of wedding the maid of the inn, which purpose was defeated by Mr. Alexander Davidson, then a Quebec merchant, who, with the assistance of his boat's crew, forcibly carried the amorous captain on board his vessel."

This seems somewhat drastic treatment, hardly likely to be popular in our time, when captains anxious to marry maids are usually welcome and other people hasten to buy confetti. But Quebec was and ever will be a city of the strictest proprieties.

I would add that my first visit to this incomparable nightmare was made during the first considerable snowfall of the year. I believe some five feet of snow were down in relatively a few hours, and anything more bewitching than the snow and the fairy-like scenes beyond the walls it is difficult to imagine.

But Quebec is the home of superb spectacles, and in the Chateau Frontenac possesses one of the most dominating hotels in the world. Here is a great hostelry like to no other one can name—majestic in the fashion of a medieval fortress, yet as up-to-date as any hotel in America and more comfortable than most. From its terrace a glorious panorama of river and unfolded . . . and it is no surprise to hear that many thousands of Americans seek this palatial height every year and succumb to its enchantment.

"See Naples and then die!"

Rather, see Quebec and find a new inspiration to live.

This Really Canada's Century?

The following article is taken from the Christian Science Monitor of August 11:

"Just as the nineteenth century belonged to the United States, so shall the twentieth century belong to Canada." This forecast is attributed to that distinguished Canadian statesman, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, uttered in the glowing days of the first decade of "Canada's century." It fired the imagination of the people of Canada, and of the Empire. They caught the vision of a new and mighty nation on the northern half of the North American continent, paralleling the power and achievement of the United States.

It was a vision comparatively easy to catch in the period a few years before the war. . . .

Inevitably Canada must always be compared with the United States; the natural relationship of the two countries has ordained that; it was in Sir Wilfrid Laurier's thought when he uttered his famous forecast. But it must be remembered that Sir Wilfrid allowed the Republic a lead of 100 years. A comparison on that basis brings out some illuminating facts.

In 1800 the population of the United States was 5,308,493. In 1901 the population of Canada was 5,371, 315, so that Canada entered the twentieth century with almost exactly the same population as the United States had at the beginning of the nineteenth.

In 1800 the chief five cities of the United States, and their populations, were: Philadelphia, 70,000; New York, 60,000; Baltimore, 26,000; Boston, 24,000; Charleston, 20,000. Their combined population was 200,000—about the same as the present population of Winnipeg or one-third the population of Toronto. There are today nine cities in Canada larger than was New York in 1800.

Starting out equally, so far as population is concerned, it took the United States fifty years to accumulate a national wealth of $7,000,000,000. In the first twenty-five years of this century, Canada accumulated a national wealth of $22,000,000,000. Even when full allowance is made for the difference in the purchasing power of the dollar in the two periods, it cannot be said that Canada's record suffers by the comparison.

The United States had gone fifty years on its century before the value of its manufactured products reached an annual figure of $1,000,000,000. At the end of twenty-five years Canada's manufactures had reached practically $3,000,000,000. In 1850 the agricultural wealth of the United States was $5,000,000,000; in 1925 the agricultural wealth of Canada was $8,000,000,000. Measured by any of these standards, it is apparent that Canada, in the twentieth century, has been more than duplicating the progress of the United States in the corresponding period of the nineteenth.

In the first decade of the twentieth century Canada's population increased more rapidly, pro rata, than did that of any other country. In the world. In the second decade Canada moved, by a fraction of 1 per cent, to second place, yielding the palm to Australia. Figures for the full quarter century, in both Canada and the United States, are estimates, as the quarter does not coincide with census periods, but it may be stated that, from 1900 to 1925 Canada's population increased by over 60 per cent and that of the United States by about 40 per cent. This period, it should be noted, includes the greatest immigration in the history of the United States.

Immigration to the United States passed the million mark for the first time in 1905, and again passed it in 1906, 1907, 1910, 1913 and 1914. That flood-tide has now dried up to the comparative dribble of about 300,000 yearly. On the other hand, immigration to Canada is on the up-trend, and is again approximating 150,000 a year. In other words, Canada's population is increasing at the rate of about 1 1/2 per cent per annum, while the population of the United States is now increasing by immigration at a rate of only 1/4 of 1 per cent per annum.

Other yardsticks, sufficiently significant in themselves, without comparison with any other country, may be used to measure the development of Canada in the last quarter of a century. The land occupied increased from 63,422,333 acres in 1901 to 140,837,903 in 1921, the last complete census year. In twenty-five years the value of field crops increased from $237,000,000 to $1,121,900,000. In 1901 Canada grew only 55,000,000 bushels of wheat and exported less than 10,000,000 bushels—a quantity so small that it was scarcely a drop in the world's bucket. Now Canada grows more than 400,000,000 bushels yearly, and has become the greatest wheat exporting country on the globe. A general wheat failure in Canada today would mean famine prices for the rest of the world.

In the period flour exports have increased from $4,000,000 to over $70,000,000; the value of livestock has increased from $268,000,000 to over $700,000,000; the value of dairy products from $68,000,000 to $240,000,000. By no means confined to the farm, mineral production has increased from $65,000,000 to over $240,000,000, and the greatest activity and interest prevail in the development of the country's mineral resources. Capital invested in electric power has increased from $11,000,000 to $725,000,000. Manufactured products have increased from $481,000,000 to almost $3,000,000,000. Foreign trade has increased from $355,000,000 to $2,242,000,000. The present foreign trade of Canada is as great as was the total foreign trade of the United States in 1900, when that country had a population of 75,000,000 people.

There is a very general impression that the virtue of thrift has been discarded by the present generation. Statistics do not support that conclusion with reference to Canada. In twenty-five years the life insurance carried by Canadians has increased from $1,000,000,000 to $9,250,000,000 and the savings bank deposits from $298,000,000 to over $1,350,000,000. Savings deposits per head of population have increased from $55 to $150. Nor has the progress of Canada been of a material nature only. Statistics do not lend themselves to the measurement of mental or spiritual values, but the part taken by Canada in the war, the courage with which the after-war problems were faced, and the rapidly growing sense of nationhood which is found in all parts of the Dominion, all bear evidence to a well-rounded development. The growth of such a country north of the international boundary is a factor in the commercial, social and political activities of this continent of outstanding significance.—R.S.

EDUCATIONAL CONSERVATION

(By Jack Miner)
"Game and Fish Conservation a National Asset"—Jack Miner.

Jack Miner calls attention to Great Wenth of Ontario's Northland and her lakes. $100 from tourists as good as $100 from wheat shipped out.

"Since making the statement in a former article in the Toronto Globe, that I stood for educational conservation, my mail has been heavy with requests for a full explanation, and in brief I will say that during the last fifteen years I have been lecturing I have no doubt spoken to a million or more school children in North America, to whom I have emphasized the importance of building bird-houses. If I can get a child to build a bird-house he will naturally erect same on a pole, and that boy or girl at once becomes a conservationist. Moreover, he becomes a better citizen because of the love kindled in his heart. He certainly will not kill the bird that is going to nest in a house that he has made, nor is he likely to allow any other person to destroy a bird in his vicinity.

"This I call 'educational conservation.' But we must not lose sight of the fact that we have got to have laws—and strict laws—for experience and personal observation have taught me that kindness without firmness is a total failure. And we have got to have qualified game wardens to enforce these laws. There is a small percentage—less than five per cent—who are outlaws, and this small percentage of people easily can upset what has been accomplished by the majority of people.

"Too many citizens look at conservation as merely a sportsman's proposition, when the fact of the matter is it is one of Ontario's biggest assets. Between Sudbury and Fort William there are thousands of square miles of territory which has been stripped of its valuable timber, and at present practically good only for mining, big game hunting and fishing. No state in the United States or Province in Canada has such a vast sportsman's paradise, and if we will take the wolves out and let the deer increase, not only by the actual money paid out for licenses, but that left in our country by tourists and hunters will give bountiful return. Stop and think of the different places tourists leave money—railways, gas stations, hotels, stores, taxis, boat fares, rent of cottages, rents of boats and most of all, the money he would leave with the guides and settlers.

"It will stand for raising the bounty on wolves, and at the same time raising hunters' license fees enough to meet the extra bounty paid. Get the wolves out of the country, allow deer to increase and thus bring more tourists to Ontario. It is just as much purchasing power as $100 received from wheat shipped out. Let's get together and educate each other how to make our lakes worth more than a productive wheat field. I was told by one of Wisconsin's Governors that lakes in Wisconsin and Minnesota were more valuable to

EMPIRE'S LARGEST

Built from designs originated in the motive power department of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the 3100 is the most powerful Canadian locomotive in the British Empire and the most powerful Canadian workmen turned her out of Angus Shops, a graceful mechanism nearly one hundred feet long, with a tractive effort of 60,800 pounds equal to 3,650 horse power. The use of Canadian nickel steel parts has reduced its weight to 42,000 pounds, but the high ratio of tractive power to weight is a notable feature of the new engine. The boiler pressure is 270 pounds, the highest of any locomotive in Canada. The eight drive wheels have a diameter of 75 inches and the cast-steel cylinders are 25 1/2 inches by 30 inches. The length of all of the new Canadian Pacific engines is 97 feet 5 inches. They have been built at present for the Toronto-Montreal run.

DARKNESS FORCES GODFREY TO LAND ON SASKATCHEWAN

Edmonton, Sept. 7.—Struggling against stiff headwinds and unable to see on account of rain and smoke, Major A. E. Godfrey and Sgt. Major Graham were forced to land on the Saskatchewan river here at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday, after completing the second jump of the trans-Canada sea-plane flight. Since leaving "La Crosse" at 8 a.m., the two fliers completed a distance of over 1,400 miles on Thursday, stopping for lunch and refueling at Ladder Lake on the way. The Wasp firebird monoplane, equipped with pontoons, was scheduled to light on Lake Wabumung, some 40 miles west of Edmonton, where a supply of gas was awaiting, but it was unable to continue past Edmonton on account of the darkness and heavy rain storm which they encountered some 30 miles out of the city. Major Godfrey accordingly decided to spend the night in Edmonton and brought his plane down on the Saskatchewan river at Viewpoint, near the Premier Coal Mine.

Speaking on the purpose of his trans-Canada flight, Major Godfrey stated that it was primarily for the purpose of visiting civil Government aviation posts, and secondly as an experimental air mail flight. On his trip from Ottawa he is carrying a bag of mail for Vancouver, the first bag of mail to ever be taken across Canada by air.

RICHARD HEADRICK
The wonderful Boy Evangelist, 11 years old, who will preach in the United church, Wetaskiwin, on September 18, 19, 20 and 21, at 8 p.m., and on Sunday, Sept. 23, to the Sunday school rally at 2:30 and at 7:30 in the evening.

This little lad has the most remarkable way of telling Bible stories, using the most original applications of every day life to illustrate his points. In telling the story of Noah's Ark he said "Perhaps some enterprising Jew ran excursions to see old Noah's Ark." His sermons are full of wit and humor and yet are full of the deepest wisdom and understanding.

Wherever he has been he has attracted large crowds, and has left a most wholesome influence. Evidence all indicates that he has been originally endowed by God and called to do this work in his Master's vineyard. He is a real boy, plays the violin, sings solos and is accompanied by his father, mother and brother. Plan to see and hear this wonderful boy.

A discount of 10% will be allowed on all taxes paid before October 31st and 5% on payments made during November.

Bylaw No. 626 respecting the sale of property to A. W. Anderson was read three times and finally passed.

REVISION OF ALBERTA

trol, greater supervision, improved methods of levying and collecting school taxes, appointment of teachers from a central bureau, greater inducement to teachers to remain with rural schools, bigger opportunities for teachers to rise in their profession, thereby security of teachers' salaries, and more equitable distribution of the tax burden, giving equal facilities to the pioneer school as to the older school, are all matters that will be dealt with in the revised act, it is anticipated.

GRAVES OF SOLDIERS ARE PARADISE OF FLOWERS IN FRANCE

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 8.—After a year's work in the grave yards of France and Flanders, during which time the bodies of 600,000 British soldiers were fittingly buried, Col. H. T. Goodland, C.B., D.S.O., deputy controller of the Imperial War Graves Commission in France, is back in Canada on his way home to Victoria, B.C. He has this message for the mothers and relatives of Canadians who died in France during the Great War.

"All those whose loved ones made the supreme sacrifice in France and Flanders may rest assured that the remains of the fallen soldier will be attended with reverence in surroundings of great beauty, forever. Let no mother think that her son is lying as he fell, in the mud and dirt of the battlefield. Since 1919 a staff of men numbering well over 2000 has labored to place the dead in such surroundings as are deserved by heroes. Every grave has its headstone and every graveyard is a veritable paradise of flowers. And those sacred spots will be attended with one in perpetuity. The Imperial and Dominion governments have so arranged it."

THREE ALBERTA DAIRY POOLS FORM CENTRAL SELLING ASSOCIATION

Formation of a central selling agency for the handling of all co-operatively made creamery butter in the province has just been announced by J. R. Love, secretary of the Alberta Co-operative Dairy Producers' association since its inception three years ago. The new organization has been incorporated as the Alberta Co-operative Dairy Pool, Limited. As a selling agency it is modeled after the Canadian Wheat Pool which sells all the crop of the three prairie pools.

With the provision of this new marketing service for the output of creamery butter from the three dairy pools recently organized to supply co-operative manufacturing facilities, reorganization of the dairy pool has been completed since the annual meeting in April. To these centralizing agencies or creameries operated at Edmonton, Calgary and Alx has been added central marketing facilities, and the latter plant has in three years reached a total of approximately 1,000,000 pounds manufactured annually, heavy volume is expected.

Buy Third Plant
The Northern Alberta Pool, incorporated early in the summer, purchased and operate the former plant of the Edmonton Pure Butter company, while the Southern Alberta Pool was incorporated to acquire the plant of the Mayfair creamery in Calgary. Only ten days ago the Central Alberta Pool which had operated the Meadow creamery at Alx exercised its option to purchase that property. Members of the old provincial pool may now join any one of the three units.

With central creamery service available to every producer in the province, the manufacturing problem of the pool is solved, points out Mr. Love. The directorate will consider the advisability of forming further units later, but the policy determined upon is to strive for volume to lower manufacturing costs in centralized plants.
During 1926 and 1927 the old provincial pool had working arrangements with several private companies whereby dairy pool members' cream was received and manufactured at a certain rate in some forty creameries, operating as pool units. A combined loss of $100,000 was claimed by the companies and attributed largely to the payment of two cents more for cream than was the ruling price in Saskatchewan.

Pool Not Dead
Pool officials claim these results really showed up the inefficiency of the small country creamery. The per pound cost of operating a creamery with an output of 100,000 pounds is just double that in a central plant producing over half a million pounds, they say.
When the dairy pool agreements with the private companies expired early in the year, the rumor was strong that the pool was dead. Now the directors state that increasing receipts week by week and good results prove the soundness of the new policy. Indicative of the efficiency that is achieved with greater volume and lower costs, the record of 54 per cent highest commercial grade butter made at the new Edmonton plant is stressed.

vision in Saskatchewan, reports the Canadian Pacific Railway Department of Agriculture. Out turns from machines thus far are encouraging with respect to both yield and grade, two and three northern predominating. It is anticipated that threshing of later sown grains in Saskatchewan and Alberta will reveal lower grades, but this cannot be determined at present. There has been no frost effect in Manitoba.

Completion of all cutting and threshing of approximately thirty-five per cent wheat and twenty-five per cent oats and barley, is reported in Manitoba.

Harvesting was held up by snow and rains last week in Alberta, but is now resumed. On the night of the 7th unusually low temperatures prevailed, which will affect grades of at least late crops. It is estimated that eighty per cent wheat and seventy per cent oats and barley are now cut, though in many districts latter is completed. Threshing just begun reveals from several places averages from twenty-five to forty bushels wheat, grading two and three northern and all exceeding sixty pounds. These are principally in Medicine Hat and Lethbridge areas. Oats vary from forty-five to sixty bushels, with some individual instances exceeding. Barley ranges from thirty-five to forty bushels. Apart from frost damage yet to be appraised from threshing returns, good yields of all grains appears evident. Livestock conditions as in other provinces are very good, but marketing is light due to harvesting operations. Rye harvest is over in all three provinces.

C. P. R. PREPARING TO MOVE 1928 CROP

"The Canadian Pacific railway is making every preparation to handle Alberta's grain crop," stated A. Halkett, general superintendent for the Alberta division, who was an Edmonton visitor last week. "With grain now pouring towards the elevators, and threshing crews busy in many fields, we expect that the movement towards Vancouver and the head of the lakes, will be in full swing next week," he continued.

"The railway's aim is to keep the grain trains moving steadily east and west in such numbers that the elevators will be kept working full speed to keep the yards clear. Any faster movement would mean congestion at Port Arthur and Vancouver, cars tied up for days waiting to be unloaded, and a resulting complaint from prairie farmers that there was a dearth of loading facilities at their local centres."

Decide Junior Championships of City Friday

Silver Cups Will Be Presented to Winners at Banquet Next Tuesday Evening

The junior track and field championships of Wetaskiwin and district will be decided tomorrow (Friday) afternoon at 4 o'clock, at the Fair Grounds, supervised by officials of the Wetaskiwin Sports Association. The winners of the two silver cups, emblematic of the all-round championship, will be presented with the trophies at the banquet to be held at The Pal on Tuesday evening next.

The committee is particularly desirous that the following athletes be at the park at 4 o'clock: Messrs. Moan, Brickman, Rodman and Paton, and the Misses Finch, French, Pritchard and Moore, and any other athletes under the age of eighteen who desire to compete for these cups. During the past twelve months the trophies have been held by Miss Chiddy and Mr. Brickman (the latter jointly with Morgan French).

The girls events will be the 100 yards, 220 yards, broad jump, hop, step and jump and high jump. These events will be competed for by the boys also, in addition to which there will be the shot put and discus throw.

WETASKIWIN HUNTERS READY FOR SEPT. 15

The sportsmen of Wetaskiwin are anticipating a big time this fall, and are all looking forward to the opening day of the hunting season, September 15, when they will get out and get after the ducks. The sloughs are plentiful this year in this district and have attracted many of the birds.

LABOR DAY TENNIS TOURNAMENT WAS A DECIDED SUCCESS

The Leduc tennis aggregation, with a number of interested friends, invaded Camrose on Labor Day with the aim of winning the shield donated by the Alberta Lawn Tennis Association, held by Bittern Lake during the past year, and were highly successful in their venture. On Saturday, August 4, the Camrose players motored to Leduc, and on Sunday, August 5, only two events were played, Leduc winning both. It was the intention to run off the remaining eight events at the tournament on Monday, but Leduc won eleven of the 14 events played, giving them a majority out of the necessary 20 events. During the month of June the club defeated Trochu in two series of games and played Leduc in the finals. Leduc won from Wetaskiwin and Bittern Lake previously and their triumph over Camrose entitles them to hold the shield of the western division of the A.L.T.A. The visitors were guests at the Hotel Alice and refreshments were served on the tennis grounds during the afternoon and evening. Camrose Canadian.

GOLF TOURNAMENT HAS BEEN ARRANGED FOR WEEK-END

This week-end a two-ball foursome will be played on a handicap basis. Everybody has an equal chance of winning, no matter who they are playing with or against. Two prizes will be given to the couple with the lowest net score. These prizes will be worth having and the match committee hopes that every member will turn out and play his game as drawn. This will probably be the last club contest of the season. A new handicap has been set by the handicap committee for all members on the basis of their season's play, and will be posted in the club house. Each member is requested to immediately get in touch with his or her partner, and also with their opponents, and arrange time for playing off their match as drawn. Games may be played at any time previous to, but not later than, September 16th. When game is finished leave your card in the box in the club house. If, for any reason, any member whose name is drawn cannot play, kindly notify Mr. G. Baker or Mr. Prest. Some members' names may have inadvertently been omitted. In that event, please notify the above, and a game will be arranged. Other members' names have been omitted for sickness, absence and other reasons which the committee understands will prevent them from playing.

morning and clearing skies are taken to indicate another spell of rain.

Correspondents reporting for the Herald's tenth crop summary of the season show that more than sixty per cent of the wheat was cut before the rain and snow interfered, the yield being estimated in nearly every district as above 25 bushels to the acre, with many fields running above thirty and forty bushels.

Some damage from frost has been done but how extensive this will prove cannot be fully determined until threshing is more general. Good progress has been made in harvesting oats and barley, the reports show.

The Yellow Parasol

There was a wall of horror as Ruth read drew out of its tissue-paper wrappings a green parasol. It might have been picked off the dust-pile for all Ruth cared! Green! And she had told Homer to get yellow. How could he make such a mistake? It was simply unpardonable. And yet it was just like Homer—a bridge-builder. He did not know those minor courtesies of life that mean so much to every woman. Ruth wore a yellow linen dress. She adored yellow—yellow cushions, yellow felts on her cakes, yellow gowns, yellow parasols. Homer surely must have noticed her whims and tastes by this time.

That Ruth should set a rather undue value on outward and visible signs was not unnatural. They were the shibboleths of her class of which Ruth Troop was also a member. Ruth had a beautifully furnished apartment, a houseboat and a stuning car. He was an adept at small courtesies. It was his proficiency in this respect that made Homer Norton appear so woefully lacking.

Did Homer really love her? She set to thinking but soon heard the toot-toot of a motor and there was Homer coming up the front walk. He sat down with the air of a man who, having brought off a difficult task successfully, feels entitled to his reward.

"You got the parasol?" he asked eagerly. "Did you like it?" "It's pretty enough," Ruth regarded the too of her shoe. "But it happens to be the wrong color. I particularly asked you to get yellow."

"Ruth, dear, I am sorry," Homer's tanned face was full of contrition. Homer was essentially the empire builder type, square-jawed, with a firm, sensitive mouth. "To tell the truth I was so rattled I could not remember whether you said blue or green or pink, and as the saleswoman showed me green I grabbed it and ran. If you do not like it I will get you another."

"Well, why not tell her so? A girl just must be told those things." "I never thought of it before," owned Homer, a trifle grimly.

Ruth was still in a perversive mood when they landed for the picnic. Homer and Rose had gone by motor. After that everything was Ralph. Homer thought if only something would happen.

Something did happen. Ruth was driving Ralph's big car one morning and ran over a farmer's dog in the road. Then there was commotion; the farmer was angry and Ralph was frightened. Ruth was shaking all over, and said: "I am terribly sorry. Is there anything I can do?"

The farmer was bending over his dog; tears were running down his cheeks. Ralph began laughing and Ruth saw how calloused he was. She gave a sob of relief when all of a sudden Homer appeared in his roadster. He took in the situation, and said: "Let me look the dog over. I know something about broken bones." He knelt down and made a swift examination. The dog seemed to understand. "A few splints and I will fix him up," said Homer.

Ruth brought some twigs; she tore Homer's handkerchiefs into strips and assisted all she could. "I shall take him to surgeon now," said Homer, as he finished.

That evening when Homer came up the walk he had a huge package under his arm.

"There! See how you like those," he said. "I never knew there were so many shades of yellow. Seven at least."

"Oh, Homer, you didn't!" Ruth was so ashamed. She opened up the package of seven parasols.

Ruth was thoughtful for a few minutes and then said: "They don't mean so much to me as I thought they did—not since this morning. There are other things far more important. Seven parasols! Homer, you are a dear, but I shall keep but one for myself and the others—the others will do for my bridesmaids."

Homer bent over her. "Well, let's use them next month for parasols are of to use after September."

WHAT CANADA NEEDS

What is wrong with Canada? What does Canada require? How can we keep our people at home? These questions are in the minds of every thoughtful man and woman. The answer to me appears to be fairly simple. We are not providing work for our population. We cannot keep people in Canada unless they have something to do. We have the instruments at hand through legislative enactments to remedy the evils to which I referred. It is not a low barrier. It is not a low barrier. But we require a government with sufficient courage to use the legislative tools within its reach as instruments to achieve the desired ends and until that is done the movement of people

WHEAT POOL NEWS BULLETIN

The new Alberta Wheat Pool terminal will be taken over by the Alberta Pool Elevators organization some time during the latter part of this month. The new terminal which has a capacity of 2½ million bushels, is the largest and most modern elevator on the coast. There will be no ceremony in connection with the opening of this new structure.

New wheat samples coming in to the Wheat Pool office show a higher quality than last year's wheat. Protein content is ranging considerably higher.

The Alberta Wheat Pool is paying farm storage this year. One cent a bushel will be paid on wheat kept back until December 15th, and an additional one cent for wheat delivered after January 15th. Two cents per bushel is the maximum farm storage allowed.

The total handlings for the 160 Alberta Wheat Pool Elevators last year was 27,500,000 bushels. This year the Pool has 300 local elevators. To participate in the Pool Elevators excess profits Pool members must deliver their grain to Pool houses or ship direct to Pool terminals and send bill of lading to the Pool Elevator head office.

The latest recruits to the ranks of the internationally known Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies are the three daughters of Ramsey MacDonald, former Premier of the Great Britain. They rode from the Chateau Lake Louise to Lake Agassiz to qualify for membership.

One of the sheep ranchers of the Coalville district is at present in the Crow's Nest Pass where he is running a large flock of sheep on summer range. This is the first year that an independent rancher has moved sheep to the mountains for the summer and the experiment is being watched with a good deal of interest.

The first of a new series of engines, has left the Angus shops of the Canadian Pacific Railway and will shortly enter passenger service between Montreal and Toronto. It is the largest passenger locomotive in the British Empire, 97 feet in length, weighing 424,000 pounds, and has eight great driving wheels 6 feet three inches in diameter. It is an entirely Canadian product, designed by Canadian Pacific engineers.

Fifteen flying clubs have been formed in Canada since May when the Government's plan to encourage civil aviation was put into effect. The first of these clubs, organized by the Air Board. Over one hundred motor planes are in use throughout Canada. Air Board officials stated. Half of the clubs are privately owned. More than one hundred members of the clubs are solo fliers.

A resolution petitioning the Canadian Daily Newspaper Association to hold its 1929 convention in the Maritime Provinces was passed at the Mid-summer meeting of the Ontario Provincial Daily Newspaper Association held on board the Canadian Pacific ship "Keweenaw" en route from Port McNicoll to St. John's. P. H. Leslie, president of the association, referred in his speech to the ardent wish of the members for a better acquaintance with the Maritimes.

The world wide service proclaimed by the Canadian Pacific Railway will be further improved with the establishment of a new hotel by the Company in London, England. So great a traffic of Canadian and American travellers between this continent and England has been built up by Canadian Pacific Steamships, that the construction of a new hotel in the heart of the Empire has been considered for some time. And now that the 1200 room Royal York is well under way the project has been taken into hand. Operations should start next year.

Recently it was decided that fish are sensitive. Now it is discovered that they are patriotic. Some salmon in New Brunswick which were caught and carefully transported alive overland to the foot of a fish ladder leading into a river draining American territory refused utterly to leave their native waters. As soon as they were released into the water, according to a report received by the General Tourist Department of the Canadian Pacific Railway, they beat a hasty retreat down the St. John river to the point where they were caught and ascended another tributary rising in New Brunswick.

LICENSE SHOULD BE SUSPENDED
"If at any time," the Toronto Telegram navigating the highways in such a grand way, "an automobile is found condition that it is a menace to traffic, the license should be suspended until the condition has been corrected. The highways are littered up with automobiles the engines of which will run after a fashion, but which have been detained too long in reaching their proper place upon the scrap heap. Cars without lights," it is also pointed out, "cars without effective brakes, cars with engines that cannot accelerate when acceleration is necessary, operate on the highways as a menace to themselves and to everybody else."

W.I. CONST. CONFERENCE

The eighth annual conference of the Alberta Women's Institute in District No. 2 took place on August 30 at the Telford schoolhouse when members of the Conjur Creek, Wizard Lake, Ledue, Winesford and Ranier branches were well represented, about eighty being in attendance. The chair was taken by Mrs. A. Lindberg, constituency convener, supported by Mrs. Rogers (Fort Saskatchewan), director of District No. 2, Mrs. H. W. Joslin, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Fulcher, president of the Winesford branch.

Mrs. Rogers, introduced by Mrs. Lindberg, gave her address which consisted of the explanation of the origin of the Women's Bureau Act, together with the relating of the recent withdrawal of financial help given by the government to the Alberta Women's Institute. The government, however, has provided a reconstruction allowance of $2,500 for this year (reducing this $500 each year) to help out things. Mrs. Rogers asked the members to increase their per capita tax from 60 cents to $1 which, if carried out by all the Alberta branches, would be the means of more than solving the difficulty of paying their way.

The election of officers for the next two years then took place as follows: Constituency Convener—Mrs. R. H. Merryweather, Conjur Creek. Child Welfare and Public Health—Mrs. Crough, Millet.

Education and Better Schools—Mrs. Cook, Conjur Creek. Legislation—Mrs. Fulcher, Millet. Household Economics—Mrs. A. M. Davis, Calmar.

Immigration—Mrs. Emil Anderson, Calmar. Canadianization—Mrs. Dalgarno, Millet.

Agriculture—Mrs. E. Hamilton, Conjur Creek. Canadian Industries—Mrs. A. N. Loggin, Ledue.

Publicity—Mrs. Loggin—Ledue Representative.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY

A judge had concluded a hearing with a terse decision: "Assault. Ten dollars."

Some days later the defendant, a mechanic, concluded some repairs upon the magistrate's car and rendered an equally terse decision: "Battery. $25.00."

Friend (staring at pedestrian who is crossing a busy street)—"What on earth is he doing?"

Motorist (consulting speedometer)—"Oh, only about 18."—The Humorist.

The Government grader, in charge of Mr. Holm, and operated by Mr. Humble, with Carl Arnold on the tractor, did a satisfactory job. The road is now ready for a short period of maintenance, after which it will receive a coat of gravel. With favorable weather conditions Millet should have an excellent section of highway. Necessary culverts and crossings will be constructed as early as possible.

Could Not Sleep

Mr. E. M. Akerman, Melville, Sask., writes: "At times I was unable to do work of any kind."

"My nervous system was nearly wrecked; I could not sleep nights, and was troubled with cold sweats, and was compelled to lie on a sofa a good part of each night."

All medical aid seemed of no avail, so by chance, and the best of good luck I tried a box of your well known and after taking four boxes I can say that they did all from them.

"I am only sorry I did not try them before, and I am now in good luck, and be money in pocket, but I did not believe in patent medicines, but I have since convinced myself that one should get the best on the market to get the best results. I will always recommend your medicine to all suffering friends, as I know they too will get the results they wish."

Here and There

The Provincial Government of Nova Scotia has arranged to have the Boy Scouts undertake the reforestation of 17,000 acres of land in the Bear River area, Digby county. A similar programme was carried out on a smaller scale in the Waterville district, Halifax county, last year.

The vicious dog fish of the Pacific coast has at length found his niche in the scheme of economic usefulness, judging by a new industry getting under way in Vancouver. Dog fish oil is the base of a preparation for keeping away mosquitoes, black flies and other insect pests which molest man and beast alike. Several barrels a day of dog fish oil are being used in the manufacture of the preparation.

A Pacific Coast mariner whose name is well known throughout the country has announced his intention to retire from active service. Captain James D. Troup, veteran of 36 years of continuous service on Pacific coastal waters, 36 years of which he spent in British Columbia, has announced his position of manager of the British Columbia coast steamship service of the Canadian Pacific Railway. His place has been taken by Captain C. D. Neroutos, formerly assistant manager.

Golf in the heart of the Canadian Rockies is becoming so popular that a miniature course has been opened at Castle Mountain. The new course is located on the Banff Vermilion Pass on the Banff Windermere Highway. This new course is probably the highest, smallest and most effectively situated of any golf links in the British Empire. The ingenious lay out of the course is the handiwork of Stanley Thompson, internationally known golf architect, who also designed the recently enlarged links at Banff.

Another recruit has joined the ranks of the famous Contented Cows at the Carnation Milk Farms at Seattle, Washington, the Canadian Pacific Railway supply farm at Strathmore having sold one of their prize heifers to the Carnation Milk Co. The animal, bred at the C. P. R. farm, is the first Holstein female from the prairie provinces to be awarded the grand championship in the "4's" class shows in the west, an honor which had previously been won by cattle shipped from Ontario or from the Pacific coast.

So notorious a reputation has the fisherman won for himself as a prevaricator that he must needs enter his fish in competitions with a duly signed and witnessed affidavit. The latest record catch to be reported to the General Tourist Department of the Canadian Pacific Railway is a six and a quarter pound speckled trout hooked at Pine Portage near Nipigon River Bungalow Camp. It is the largest so far to be entered for the local fishing trophy, although many fine fish have rewarded anglers in the neighbourhood this summer.

The Japanese coronation ceremonies in November will probably result in a demand for more motor cars from this continent, said J. A. Langley, Canadian Trade Commissioner in Tokyo, who sailed last night from Vancouver aboard the Canadian Pacific ship Empress of Asia. The forthcoming coronation procession in which ox carts and other picturesque means of locomotion have participated in the past, will probably be largely motorized on this occasion, he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Burrows and Mr. Thomas McManus of Kimberley, B.C., spent a week with Mr. Burrows' uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Scott. They made the trip by automobile, returning on Tuesday.

RIGHT TO ASSESS
AUTOS CHALLENGED

Considerable interest is being evinced in the test case now being heard in the Opal, Alta., village school district, as to whether a resident within an incorporated school district is liable to have a school tax put on his automobile, and the result of the case is being watched throughout the province. At Rocky Mountain House auto owners are being assessed as high as $35 a car.

Under Section 24 of the School Assessment Act, villages and consolidated school districts may tax for school purposes all property, real and personal. Grain, hay, household effects, wearing apparel, farm buildings, livestock and farm implements are expressly exempt, from the tax, however.

The test case at Opal is being fought on the grounds that the car is a farm implement.

TRACK LAYING PROCEEDING AT FULL STRENGTH

Completion of the new line from Willingdon to Edmonton by November 1st is expected by officials of the C.P.R., so it was learned on Friday morning. Grading is being rushed ahead all along the route east of the city and a large crew will commence operations near the city limits early next week.

While track laying was affected to some extent by the labor situation, when many men were attracted by the harvest fields, the crew is now at full strength. The line is laid to a point 15 miles west of Willingdon and it is the intention to resume this work at once so as to get the steel into the city as soon as possible. Within possibly six weeks, the first trains carrying freight will be steaming into the city.

The C.N.R. is also reported to be rushing work on its cut-off from Edmonton to Clover Bar. Grading on this line has been well advanced and it is expected that the track laying crews will go into action within two weeks.

GERMAN GOVERNMENT
AFTER MORE REVENUE

The German Post-Office Department proposes to sell for advertising all the space above the address on all letters. Orders have been issued that no letters will be received which contain a return address on the upper left-hand corner after Sept. 1. This space will be given over to firms desiring to advertise soap, cold creams and other articles. The protest by German business men that they will lose big sums by being obliged to discard the supplies of envelopes on hand means nothing to the Post Office Department, which has arranged to sacrifice all space not strictly necessary for the stamp and address to advertising. Return addresses in future must be printed in the lower left-hand corner in small type or on the flap at the back.
